

Libyan Journal of Medical Sciences and Technologies (LJMST)

Author Guidelines

1. General Information

The Libyan Journal of Medical Sciences and Technologies (LJMST) publishes original, peer-reviewed research articles in the fields of medical sciences, health sciences, and medical technologies. All submissions must be original and not under consideration elsewhere.

2. Manuscript Submission

Authors must submit their manuscripts using the official journal paper template. All submissions undergo a double-blind peer review process.

3. Ethical Considerations

Authors are required to comply with international ethical standards. Ethical approval is mandatory for studies involving human participants or animals.

4. Plagiarism Policy

Manuscripts must have an acceptable similarity index and should be free from plagiarism. Any detected misconduct will result in rejection.

5. Language and Publication Frequency

The language of publication is English. The journal is published on a semi-annual basis.